Privacy Policy

Your data is stored by the Foundation for Emotional Therapeutic Counselling (FETC) within the provisions of the GDPR.

The FETC does not share your data with any third parties, except from external assessment and moderation and unless required to do so by a Court Order.

The FETC may use your contact data to communicate with you directly for important information salient to course provision, CPD, supervision, mentoring, and information relevant to community membership. You may opt out of receiving communications from the FETC at any time by contacting harryrob429@gmail.com. Our communication methods will mainly be by email, text and telephone.

Information you provide to FETC as part of your community membership or course process will be retained in accordance with the GDPR. FETC would like to be able to retain your personal data post qualification to enable us to inform you of ongoing CPD and other opportunities, unless you request us not to.

Website – Cookies

Cookies are small files which are stored on your computer by your web browser. They are designed to hold a small amount of data which is used to personalise or customise your browsing experience online.

Cookies help to improve your visit to our site by:

- Remembering preferences so that you are not asked to re-enter information
- Remembering information you have given (such as your postcode, or location) so that we can personalise the site to content relevant to you
- Measuring how you (and all visitors) use the site so we can continually improve it

Please note that cookies are not harmful to your computer and we do not store any personally identifiable information about you in any cookies set by our website.

This information is provided to you as part of our commitment to comply with UK and European legislation, and to ensure we are completely transparent about technology in use on our website.

Further information on cookies can be found on the third party All About Cookies site. This site also contains information on how to delete cookies or control cookies in your browser.

Third Party Cookies

In addition to our own cookies we also use some third party technologies to help us monitor and improve the user experience of our website. These tools include Google Analytics and Google Adwords. These tools may also set cookies to allow their software to track activity on our site. If you have any concerns about these third party tools please review Google's own privacy policy at <https://policies.google.com/privacy>
